Dear Paddy,

I'd like to thank you for the wonderful assistance you have given me and my students in our study abroad program in Ireland and Spain these last few years. You've done a great job in every respect. My only worry has been that the students would begin to like you better than they like me.

Your knowledge of both Ireland and Spain's Basque Country is always truly impressive and you never fail to communicate that to us in ways we can understand and digest. I also sincerely appreciate your arrangement of so many of our logistics in such expert fashion: our time with you has always proceeding in a smooth, orderly and enjoyable fashion.

We are lucky to have someone who can share his deep knowledge of Irish and Spanish history, culture, politics, music, art—the list goes—and then we strap on our boots and head for breathtaking hikes through the Irish hills and countryside, capped off by enjoyable evenings of Guinness and Irish music in such authentic and charming venues.

I look forward to many more collaborative years.

Very Best Regards,
